These cute placemats are so much fun to draw on while the children (and adults) are waiting for Mom to get dinner on the table. They can easily take up 15-20 minutes, especially if you let your little ones color them too. Some of the pictures are a little hard for a child under 6, but they can enjoy trying with an adult's help. I bought them to keep my grandchildren entertained when they come to our house.

I'm a dummy and didn't look at what age group this is for. I was thinking it was for possibly a small toddler who just wanted some cool things to look at and scribble a bit. However, these are semi-intricate steps for creating cartoons. It's a cool book. My nephew will just have to wait awhile to use it.

We LOVE these books. We have purchased each one in the series that we have found and they keep our son constructively, creatively busy. He is always proud of his accomplishments. Definitely recommend all these books!

A very fun thing to keep little ones busy at a restaurant or while mom is cooking. I think it is a little advanced for the younger ages recommended, but it probably depends on each child's ability as well.

This has been very fun at dinner time, or just anytime at all! They are very descriptive on how to draw, and they have you draw things a kid would want to know how to draw. I just wouldn't call Doodles at Dinner because it really works for every meal! I recommend getting this if your looking for fun, disposable place mats or something to just entertain your child. Hope you enjoy it!

the three year old who I purchased these for loved them. They were a cheap gift that she had to start color right away

What an innovative way to sit down to dinner with kids and keep them occupied and also busy with what they can create in a few minutes.

Great for kids starting to draw. My son loves these books and has become an even better artist. Highly recommend you buy these books.
