Super cute book. We purchased this as a "Nana" Christmas gift from my boys to my mom (Nana). It's great for Nana's house (what nana doesn't like to read to her babies?!). I thought it was a cute gift because there's a ton of gifts for "grandma" but not a lot out there for "nana". Great for a birthday or Mother's Day from the grandbabies!

I loved reading this from cover to cover. The story is adorable, and even without the beautifully done illustrations, the story paints a very cute picture of a kind little girl and her very patient grandmother. Kudos to Mr. Burgunder. I hope he writes other children's books. I have friends that have little ones that will just love this one and more.

Very cool book. Nice story and it teaches kids about the animals. I bought the book for reading to my 5 grandkids and they all love the book. It's becoming one of their favorites. Brad's the next Dr.

Seuss and "Nana And The Banana" will become the next "Fox in Socks".

I've purchased this book for numerous baby showers, and it's always a big hit! The pictures and stories are absolutely charming, and I find the book quality to be top notch. So happy to see it on !

I sent this to my niece through . When my sister received the package they read the book right away. She e-mailed me to express her appreciation and wrote, "Thank you for the cute book for Anna! It is VERY well put-together and illustrated beautifully."

My 6 year old twins loved this book! They can read it by themselves and also read it to each other. The zoo theme is very appealing. Simply written. the content is precise enough for their minds not to wander but also learn something on each page. Enchanting and gentle illustrations. The bond between the grandparent and the child is very nicely depicted.

This book is simply written but interesting and teaches the child about the animals. I recommend this book great reading for grandparents to their grandchildren.

My four-year-old daughter really enjoyed this book when I read it to her. She loves animals and going to the zoo, and she looks forward to doing special activities with her grandmothers. I like how each page rhymes and that the child being read to learns about what different animals eat. I also like the repetition of certain phrases throughout the book. I think that both the author and the illustrator did an excellent job.
